The OFDT website does not use cookies. The IP addresses of machines visiting the French monitoring centre for drugs and drug addiction (OFDT) website are only registered for statistical purposes. They are not archived.

The provisions of the 1978 Act therefore apply only to e-mails sent to the webmaster and to the handling of the OFDT's latest electronic newsletter. You are free at any time to unsubscribe from the OFDT's latest newsletter by clicking on the link at the end of each newsletter sent.

Copyright and use of online content

All content on the www.ofdt.fr website is copyright-protected. Any use is subject to the author's consent by virtue of article L. 122-4 of the French Intellectual Property Code. Requests for the right to copy content must be sent to the site's webmaster: webmestre@ofdt.fr. The distribution or use of content for commercial or advertising purposes is prohibited.

When using data or information from the website, you must mention the OFDT as the source and, if applicable, you must mention the OFDT's partners when associated with this data or information.

Establishing links

Any public or private website is authorised to create links to the OFDT home page or directly to specific information on the website. If you create a link to the OFDT website, please inform us by e-mail at: webmestre@ofdt.fr.

However, the www.ofdt.fr pages must not be framed in any way inside the pages of another website. Every effort must be made to clearly inform site visitors that they are on the OFDT site and can freely browse said site.

The OFDT only establishes links to websites of entities with which it partners and is not in any way responsible for links made to its site.
